About town:

A conversation with Yolo Co. Supervisor Tom Stallard

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

Yolo County Supervisor Tom Stallard, who proudly represents the citizens of Woodland and Bryte (West Sacramento's northwestern neighborhood), is a native Californian, educated in the public schools of San Leandro and Oakland. He received his bachelors degree in Economics from the University of California, Davis in 1968. After serving as an officer in the United States Navy, he returned to UCD where he obtained his law degree in 1975.

Supervisor Stallard's business career includes a law practice, a legislative intent service, and redevelopment of historic commercial properties in Woodland. He was elected to the Yolo County Board of Supervisors in 1994 and served as its chair in 1996. He and his wife, Meg, have three children: Tim, who is a senior at the University of Alaska, Fairbanks; Dave, a junior at the University of Colorado, Boulder; and Jenny, who is a junior at Woodland High School.

As part of a feature the News-Ledger is writing on some of the people of note in East Yolo, Supervisor Stallard was recently asked the following questions:

Q: Why did you decide to run for a position like county supervisor?

A: I had accomplished most of my goals in terms of the law and private enterprise and I was looking for an opportunity to give something back. I was also looking for a new challenge, and public service has certainly been that. It's a lot of hard work at times, but I've never been the least bit disappointed in the decision I made to get more involved.

Q: What's it like serving the people of Bryte?

A: I've really enjoyed getting to know the people of Bryte. In many ways it's like an early 20th Century community, and the challenge is to help it keep its charm while addressing the problems it currently faces. The older neighborhoods tucked in between the levee and the railroad tracks are just wonderful and I've really been impressed by the enthusiasm of the people. I'm convinced Bryte is going to play a major role in helping the West Sacramento area reach its full potential. I also want to say that they make the best bologna sandwich in the world at the Bryteway Market.

SUPERVISOR TOM STALLARD

Q: What are some of the problems which have been taking up a lot of your time?

A: Well, land usage is always a hot topic. Yolo County's biggest industry is agriculture, but there is always constant pressure to re-zone. Everyone is competing for sales tax dollars and an individual in my position always has to weigh what's best for the land and what's best for the people in the nearby communities. I don't want to see a lot of strip malls and other poorly thought-out development. Quality growth should make sense for everyone, and West Sacramento is a good example of a city which still has a great opportunity to grow within its own city limits.

Q: How is Yolo County's health -- financially speaking?

A: What a lot of people don't realize is that out of the 58 counties in California, Yolo County ranks dead last in the per capita tax revenue it receives. When you're number 58 out of 58, not only do you have to work harder at making ends meet, but you also have to be creative in your approach to problem solving. It takes good planning to make a little money go a long ways, and I'm always looking for ways to consolidate programs and improve management. We've already merged six county departments into three and the passage of Measure J, which will consolidate the treasure, tax collector, auditor, and controller into a single director of finance, should save us another $250,000 annually. Plus I think it's very important to constantly reach out to the private sector to establish new partnerships which can be very helpful in terms of better serving the future needs of the citizens I represent.

Q: What can you do as a county supervisor to help Yolo County improve its financial situation?

A: Well, the first thing that needs to be done is to have property tax revenues returned to local entities. The State of California's most recent money grab took a couple of million dollars away from Yolo County. That's money we desperately need to help repair some of our 820 miles of roads, and some of our 140 bridges. Plus additional funds would allow us to continue improving our public parks, increase library hours, and better serve our citizens in any number of ways. The fact of the matter is that when the state raids local coffers so the governor can implement state-wide programs that look good on his political resume, it devastates counties like Yolo, and I personally find it very offensive.

Q: What are some of your hopes for the future of Yolo County?

A: I'm doing everything I can to improve regional relations, especially with Sacramento County officials. It's very important that we all work cooperatively, and if we do, I see no reason why the Sacramento river can't someday become a show place in this region. I think we need to better communicate our needs, and we're doing that. Our efforts on behalf of the people of this area will be more productive ultimately if we do our very best to work together towards common goals.

City settles 'whistle blower' lawsuit with three employees

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Plaintiffs and defense in the lawsuit by three "whistleblowers" who sued the city of West Sacramento announced Tuesday that the city will pay a $975,000 settlement in the case.

Employees and former employees Jerry Prosser, Tony Sterling and John Parent filed the lawsuit after they said the city retaliated against them for reporting to state and federal regulators and to local media that there were operating difficulties at the West Sacramento sewage treatment plant.

In a joint statement released Tuesday, attorneys for both sides said that the settlement prevents a "protracted, costly and difficult trial . . . with the additional likelihood that, given the legal issues involved, an appeal would have been likely, regardless of the outcome of the trial."

Anthony J. Poidmore, attorney for the plaintiffs, was paraphrased as stating that "the settlement supports plaintiffs' allegations and is a recognition that they were, indeed, ill treated as a result of their having come forward."

City officials disagreed "that the plaintiffs were subject to any retaliation or that its employees engaged in any wrongdoing, but nonetheless entered into the settlement in order to close a long, difficult and expensive chapter in the City's history."

The public controversy about the city sewage plant began in 1992, when the News-Ledger followed up on tips that output testing done at the plant was not being performed randomly as procedures demanded. A number of the plant's operators confirmed this.

Other revelations in the media and in investigations by the state and federal government followed, and the city was fined several times -- including a $250,000 fine in 1994 for reporting violations.

Larry Gossett, the director of public works at the plant, left city employment in early 1994.

One of the plaintiffs in the lawsuit, Jerry Prosser, continues to work for the department as an industrial pretreatment inspector. Tony Sterling, the second plaintiff, has left the city for other work, and John Parent, the third plaintiff, retired with a medical disability in 1993.

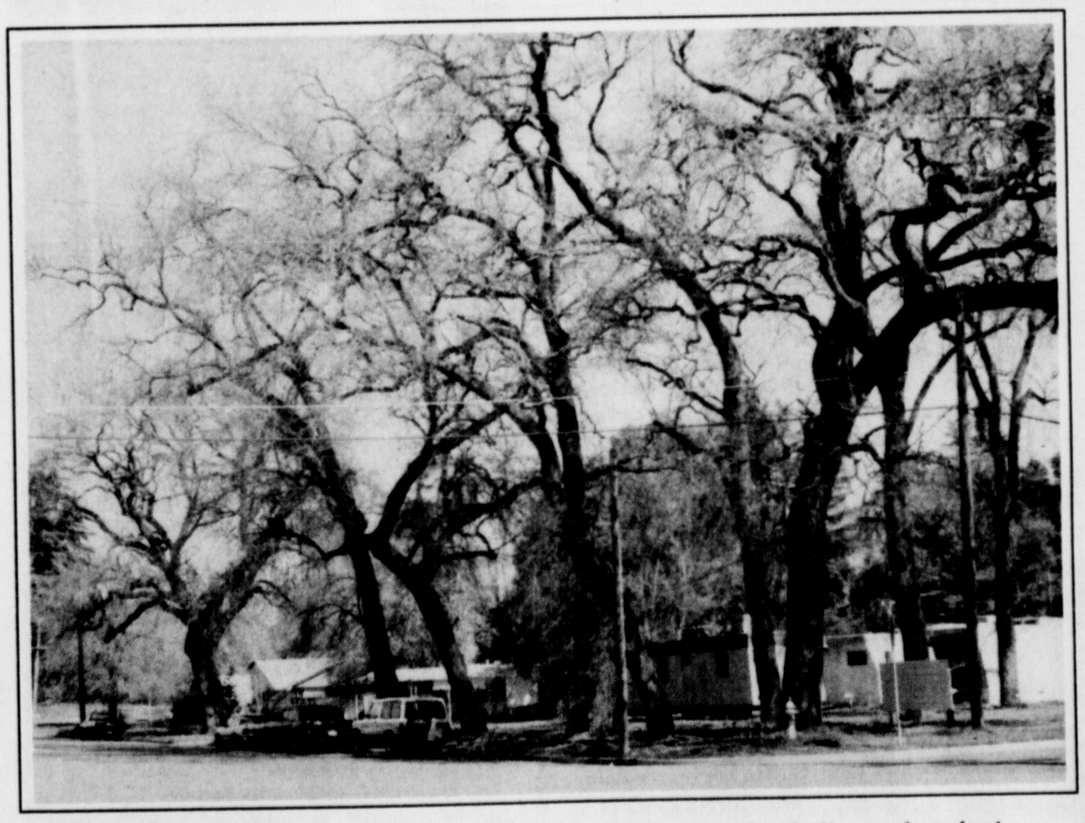
In yesterday's press release, the city emphasized that it has made over $1.75 million in improvements at the South River Road sewage plant in the last five years, a fact acknowledged by the plaintiffs' attorney as well.

Jury selection for the trial had begun in Yolo County Court before mediation brought about the settlement.

The News-Ledger had been served with a subpoena for that trial in order to corroborate the timing of the publication of various articles, but was never called to testify.

A city council member and one of the three plaintiffs declined further comment, citing the requirements of the settlement that they not do so.

Fifth St. oaks to be cut down



A grove of oaks near Fifth St. will make way for a promised city road project

■ Prior commitments tied the city's hands with regards to 5th Street widening and oak tree controversy, city council feels

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A unanimous vote of the West Sacramento City Council means the city will proceed with its original plan to widen 5th St. to four lanes -- and that means the destruction of a number of large oak trees near the present road.

City council member Christopher Cabaldon, who is West Sacramento's vice mayor, said that legal obligations and exposure kept the council from ever getting to the issue of whether to trade parking or landscaping for the oak trees by coming up with a new widening plan.

If the city were to delay the project past this year in order to draw up a new plan, he said, the city's development agreement with Lighthouse (which is marketing a residential project nearby) would be violated, and that violation could mean legal exposure to the city of $500,000 or more, he added.

"I said at the meeting, Pete (Corollo, the project manager for Lighthouse), would you come up right now and sign a legally binding extension? He said he wasn't prepared for that," said Cabaldon.

Beyond that -- and among the points that were not debated because they couldn't get past the first set of problems -- was the issue of the city already having condemned and purchased property along the road for the original street widening project. If the property were now not used for the purpose it was purchased for, the city again might face legal exposure from those who were pressured to sell it.

"We certainly were told there could be potential exposure for using eminent domain for a project and then changing plans," Cabaldon reported.

First Union buys Money Store

Company & city see little impact on local HQ

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

The Money Store Inc. was sold a week ago to First Union Corporation of Charlotte, North Carolina, one of the country's biggest and fastest-growing banks. First Union is currently the sixth largest bank in the nation and has been on a decade-long spending spree which has left it with approximately $280 billion in assets.

The Money Store is a nationally-known leader in consumer credit lending and one of the largest based companies in the Sacramento area. The price of the deal was $2.1 billion and that included the Money Store's name and all of its 172 branches.

With the construction of the Money Store's distinctive new pyramid-shaped building, West Sacramento became the headquarters for the company.

First Union officials said West Sacramento will continue in that role and that the company will remain almost completely intact, with minimal layoffs. That announcement came as welcome news to the almost 2,500 people who are currently employed by the Money Store in the Sacramento area.

Money Store's President and Chief Executive Officer, Marc Turtletaub, said the company will continue its move into the new $85 million headquarters in West Sacramento and that very little of its operation will change.

About 800 employees have already moved into the structure on the West Sacramento riverfront, a city official said last week.

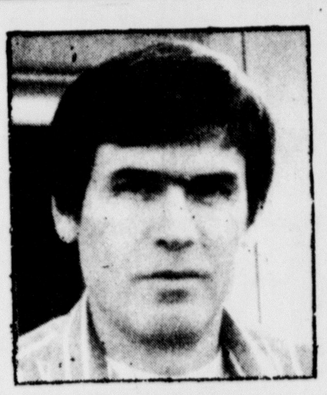
Bill Clinton and a few 'Classic Pearls of Idiocy'

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

I was sitting around the other afternoon swapping Bill Clinton jokes with a friend of mine and our conversation went a little something like this:

"Okay, here's another one," said my smiling friend. "ABC television polled all the female White House interns and asked them if they would have sex with the President of the United States and do you know what 80% of them said?"

"Nope," I said, already preparing to laugh.

"They said no! Not again!"

I chuckled a little and said, "Okay, here's one I bet you haven't heard. Bob Dole, Dan Quayle and Bill Clinton all got caught up in the Wizard of Oz tornado. After it was over, Bob Dole decided to ask the wizard for a heart and Dan Quayle asked him for a brain, but all Bill Clinton said was, "Hey, has anyone around here seen Dorothy?"

When we both finally ran out of Bill Clinton jokes (which seemed to take us forever) I happened to notice a small book with a picture of Mad's Alfred E. Newman on it resting all by itself on a coffee table not too far from us. "Is there anything funny in there?" I asked, pointing to the book.

"I don't know," said my friend. "It belongs to one of my sons."

A telephone rang in another room and when my friend departed to answer it, I reached over, picked up the book, read its title ("Classic Pearls of Idiocy"), and began to read. And here are just a few of the pearls I wrote down before I went home:

Adam was very lucky. He never had to sit around and listen to Eve talk about all the other men she could have married.

Most of us don't know exactly what we want, but we're pretty darn sure that we don't have it.

When most people put in their two cents' worth, they're not overcharging.

People with really bad coughs should go to the doctor, not to a theater.

The man who has everything is envious of the man who has two of everything.

Modesty is the art of drawing attention to whatever it is you're being humble about.

Most people don't act stupid -- it's the real thing.

Most people who get into financial difficulty do so because they don't act their wage.

Ever notice how random chance always picks you for jury duty but never to win the lottery?

The suburbs are where they cut down all the trees and then name the streets after them.

Some people are like blisters -- they show up right after all the work is done.

Most people are too lazy to open the door when opportunity knocks.

It's a good idea to keep your words soft and sweet because you never know when you'll have to eat them.

You'll never get rid of a bad temper by losing it.

Elections are when people find out what politicians stand for and politicians find out what people will fall for.

If at first you don't succeed, then you're about normal.

Live every day as if it were your last, because one of these days, you'll be right.

It's what you learn after you know it all that really counts.

Most minds are like concrete, all mixed up and permanently set.

It's not just the ups and downs that make life difficult, it's all the jerks.

The problem with the ladder of success is that by the time you've climbed it, you're considered over the hill.

A lawyer is someone who writes an eighty page document and then calls it a brief.

And finally, have you ever noticed how women who claim that all men are alike seldom have any trouble whatsoever spotting the difference between you and Tom Cruise?

River City High drama dept. stages 'A Few Good Men'

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

The Drama Department of River City High School, under the direction of Roy Engoron and in cooperation with Thespian Troupe 3129, will perform Aaron Sorkin's "A Few Good Men" on March 12th, 13th, 14th, 19th, 20th and 21st.

The riveting and thought-provoking play, which was made into a hit movie staring Jack Nicholson and Tom Cruise, will be staged at Yolo High School's Ezer K. Matthews Performing Arts Center. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m. and general admission is $6. Tickets for students and senior citizens are $5.

The play is about corruption and abuse of power in the United States military. The cast is a large one, with 18 River City High School students performing on stage and another dozen helping out behind the scenes with lighting, wardrobe, sets, and makeup.

"This play has been a real challenge," said Director Roy Engoron. "Some of our kids have to play characters much older than they are. Plus they had to learn military etiquette, how to stand at attention, and how to make sure their uniforms look just right. But it's a wonderful dramatic work. It's very cleverly constructed and I've been trying to get the rights to it since about 1990."

The play and its famous movie version are not exactly alike, but they flow in much the same way. "It's a drama," explained Engoron, "but like all great dramatic works, there's a great deal of humor in it. It's a very well-rounded play and the dialogue is just plain thrilling at times."

"Everyone has worked so hard on this play," added Engoron, "that the kids have become a true ensemble. There's no one real star, other than maybe the playwright. We're all anxiously

RC tennis: win streak intact

From River City High School

After shutting out two teams from the Mother Lode League in the season's opening week, the River City High School Tennis Team took on two squads from the Superior California Athletic League last week. And while neither match was a shutout, the Raiders did dispose of both Vanden and Dixon to improve their 1998 record to four wins and no losses. The wins also brought the number of consecutive regular season victories by River City to a remarkable 40.

In Tuesday's outing, the Vanden Vikings brought the Sac-Joaquin Section's premier player with them to West Sacramento in Erik Watkins. Unfortunately for the Vikings, Watkins can only play in one of the nine matches. So although he easily defeated the Raiders' number one boys singles player, Sarom Phoung, 6-0, 6-1, it was Phoung's teammates who provided the greater overall depth and a 6-3 win.

In the other three singles matches, Jeff Wright, Douangchanh Lattasima, and Aenoy Xayasone earned easy wins while both boys doubles teams also won handily. Phoungeun Souvannaphoungeun and Aaron Potnick won 10-2 at #1 boys doubles and Khampheng Insixiengmay and Prak Pich 10-5 at #2.

In girls doubles, the #1 Raider duo of Loan Nguyen and Sue Yang fell 7-10, but Jennifer Pollard and Khonesavanh Lattasima came back from a 6-8 deficit for a 10-8 win at #2. Sophomores Casey Insixiengmay and Sarika Chand lost 4-10 in mixed doubles.

After Thursday's scheduled contest at Natomas was postponed by rain, the Raiders went to Dixon on Friday to take on the Rams. Dixon was coming off a pair of 4-3 losses to Natomas and Highlands and was without its top boys player, Kevin Morgan. However, he probably could not have changed the overall outcome, a 5-2 River City Victory.

With Douangchanh Lattasima out due to illness, Xayasone (#1) and Nguyen (#2) moved up for the girls singles matches. Xayasone won without playing a point as the Rams' Lindsay Finkas was injured during warmups. Nguyen lost 6-10 in her varsity singles debut. In boys singles, Phoung won 10-4 at #1 and Wright 10-1 at #2. The Raiders took two of the three doubles matches as Souvannaphoungeun/Potnick remained undefeated and K. Insixiengmay/K. Lattasima triumphed in mixed.

In the week ahead, the Raiders have two very long road trips as they travel to San Andreas tomorrow to play Calaveras and then head south to battle Escalon, the 1997 Trans Valley League Champions, on Monday.

RC baseball searches for stride

By Chuck Robinson

River City High School's baseball team played three games last week, losing all three.

River City has a good team this year, but they are not putting it together yet. they are making a lot of errors and the bats have not come to life yet.

They got rained out on the two scrimmages early in the season, and that set them back. But the team has lots of depth.

Monday, River City lost to Christian Brothers 4-3. RC scored 3 runs on 3 hits, 4 errors. CBS scored 4 runs on 7 hits, 2 errors. Marc Palamidessi was 1 for 4; Allen Pearson 1 for 1; and Justin Deed 1 for 2 with 1 RBI for River City.

Wednesday, they lost to San Juan 16-6. RC had 6 runs on 6 hits, 4 errors. San Juan had 16 runs on 14 hits, 4 errors. For the Raiders, Joe Rojas was 1 for 1 with a double; Allen Pearson 1 for 3 with an RBI; Gary Herren 1 for 3; Lorenzo Vasquez 1 for 3, with a double and 2 RBIs; Hector Vabes 1 for 1 with a double and two RBIs; and Brian Schrimsher was 1 for 3.

Friday, River City lost to Granite Bay 12-2. RC scored two runs on 3 hits, 5 errors. Granite Bay had 12 runs on 12 hits with an error.

For River City, Allen Pearson was 1 for 2; Marc Palamidessi 1 for 3 and Gary Herren, 1 for 2, with an RBI.

Junior Varsity wins one

Monday, the junior varsity baseball team lost to Christian Brothers 11-5. Eric King had the only hit for River City.

Wednesday, the junior varsity lost to San Juan, 5 to 4. Eric King went 2 for 4 to lead RC's hitting.

Friday, the Raider j.v. beat Granite Bay 6-4.

RC had six runs on 9 hits, 7 errors. Winning pitcher was Bobby Flippen.

Clay Harrell went 3 for 3 for RC with an RBI; Ray Ynostroza went 1 for 2 with an RBI; Aurelio Vasquez hit 1 for 3 with a double and an RBI.

Thursday, RC will be home with Highlands on the diamond. Wednesday features a home game with Sacramento High, and on Friday, River City travels to Vanden.

On March 17, the team will play Will C. Wood H.S. at home and on Thursday, March 19, the team will play at Golden Sierra in its first league game at 3:30 p.m.

Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

March Madness hits Sacramento's Arco Arena on Thursday when the NCAA West Regional Tournament tips off.

Sacramento will host eight of the 16 Western Regional teams, while Boise State, Idaho, will host the other eight teams of the 64 which qualified for the big dance. Thursday's games in Sacramento will pit the Maryland Terrapins (19-10) vs. Utah State Aggies (25-7) at 11:42 a.m., and 30 minutes after the completion of the game, the Illinois Fighting Illini (22-9) will play the South Alabama Jaguars (20-6).

Then the Arco staff will clear the arena to prepare for the second set of games that begins at 4:50 p.m.

The late games will have the Tennessee Volunteers (20-8) against the Iliinois State Redbirds (24-5) and then the defending NCAA champion Arizona Wildcats (27-4) will close out the long day of top notch college basketball against the longshot Nicholls State Colonels (19-9).

The winners of the first round will meet at the Arco Arena on Saturday, March 14, starting at 1:30 p.m. and the final game will start 30 minutes after the completion of the previous game. Tickets for the tournament were still available at press time by calling the Arco Arena Box Office. Next week, when the field narrows down to the best 16 teams in the nation, I'll have the "Sports Insider" picks of the week!

The Oakland A's will be no pushover this season after posting the American League's worst record (65-97) last year. The A's signed a few free agents to boost their weak pitching staff. They signed ex-Dodgers righthander Tom Candiotti and ex-Yankees lefthander Kenny Rogers to their starting rotation. If Ariel Prieto recovers from last year's injuries, they may be able to make a run at the Western Division crown. Their lineup will consist of Ricky Henderson, Shane Mack and Ben Grieve in the outfield. In the infield, the A's will have Jason Giambi at first, Scott Spiezio (second), Kurt Abbott (SS), Mike Blowers or Dave Magadan at third base. Damon Berryhill will share the duties behind home plate with George Williams. If they stay away from the injury bug this season, look for the A's to move up in the standings.

How about Don King's night of boxing last Saturday in Mexico City!

The Pay-per-View event featured two great championship fights and they both ended up in a draw! In the famous words of America's number one boxing promoter -- "Only in Mexico!"

Back in the USA, West Sacramento's undefeated junior featherweight Willie Jorrin, who is preparing for a title shot in May, will appear in a ten round bout on Monday, March 30, at the Radisson Hotel. Jorrin (19-0, 11 KOs) will tangle with Felipe Castillo (17-6, 9 KOs) of Mexico City and Juan Arias of Napa is also scheduled on the bout to face Javier Pachardo (41-19, 28 KOs). Tickets are priced at $20, $30, and $40, and can be purchased at the Radisson Hotel or you can call me at 372-7332 for tickets and posters.

See ya next week!

Kings' Korner

By Richard Novoa

The Kings (26-37) won two games in a row this week, but missed out on a chance to close the gap on the Houston Rockets for the eighth and final playoff spot when they lost Monday night to the Golden State Warriors.

The Warriors led by 18 points at half-time in their 93-88 victory over the Kings at the Arco Arena. The Warriors out-rebounded the Kings with 62, a season high for a Kings opponent, to Sacramento's 42. The Kings have lost three of their last four games at home. Not a good sign for a playoff team!

The Kings trail the Rockets by five games with about 20 games left this season. One bright note is Corliss Williamson. He has been on fire for Sacramento. Corliss scored a career-high 40 points against the Pistons on March 4 and added 27 points against the Warriors last Monday. He will probably be named NBA player of the week!

The Kings are on the road this week against Utah on Wednesday, San Antonio on Thursday, and Houston on Saturday night. Next home game is March 19 against the Cleveland Cavs. Plenty of good seats are available.

See ya at the Arco!

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Expensive end to a sad chapter for West Sacramento

In May of 1992, the News-Ledger was told that there were major operational problems at the West Sacramento sewage treatment plant. Among the mis-dealings there was the common practice of taking "random" samples of sewage output only after first making sure the samples would "pass" the test.

In other words, the only time the "random" samples would be taken was when the results were already guaranteed to keep the plant out of trouble with inspectors.

The News-Ledger called all of the plant's operators at home one evening, and reached most of them. Those who talked unanimously confirmed that this was how the random sampling was done, with some saying that there would be "no point" in taking samples of what was going into the river unless the sample was taken at a time when it would pass the test. It was commonly known that much of the time, the city's sewage output into the Sacramento River did not meet state regulations.

The next day, a News-Ledger reporter approached the city's public works director (who has since moved on) for a comment and explanation. The director's response was gruff. He was upset that the News-Ledger had obtained the home phone numbers of the operators, and was "pretty sure he knew the individuals responsible." He was also upset that the newspaper didn't simply call him for the information first.

He then accidentally illustrated exactly why the newspaper didn't call him first. He tried to convince the newspaper that there was no story here, tried to answer any question about the sewage plant except how the testing was done, and generally tried to create an intimidating impression.

After the reporter received a personal tour of the plant from other staff members, the reporter returned to his car, which was parked outside the director's office window, and found chewing gum jammed into the doorlocks and on the sideview mirrors. This wasn't exactly the "A-list" of vandalism, but a point had been made by someone at the South River Road treatment plant.

The reporter asked the public works director if he had seen anything when this occurred, because it did happen outside his window, and this top city management employee reacted by examining the car and erupting in delighted laughter.

Soon after, city public works staff were told not to talk to the media; all questions were to be referred to management.

Some talked anyway. Investigations of the plant by the state and federal government ensued and fines into the hundreds of thousands of dollars were paid by the taxpayers to cover the plant's transgressions.

The city went from a position that nothing was wrong at the plant and the director's management was perfectly satisfactory, to a position that it is quite wonderful that nearly two million dollars of improvements have been made at the facility. They effectively skipped the step of admitting that there were very, very serious problems to warrant these improvements.

Several whistleblowers from the department found their careers take interesting turns.

Three sued.

This week, they settled with the city for nearly a million dollars total.

You probably don't need to ask the opinion of the News-Ledger over whether their claims of on-the-job retaliation for "blowing the whistle" had merit.

Letters to the Editor

Praise for RCHS

River City High School was visited recently (March 1 through 4) by a team of educators from around California. They observed classes, travelled throughout the school and spoke to parents, students, staff and administrators concerning the state of the school.

The visiting committee's report confirmed what we already know, that River City High School is a GREAT school offering an outstanding education to the students of West Sacramento. We were especially pleased that they were complimentary of the behavior and attitude of the students and dedication of the staff. Although we will not know the final term of our accreditation until late May, I am confident, from the written report, that we will get a favorable accreditation from the WASC Commission.

I would like to formally thank the parents, staff, and students for your dedication and hard work and once again showing "Raider Pride Community Wide."

Replacing Health Officer

Yolo County is in the midst of recruiting a public health officer to replace Robert Bates, M.D., who recently accepted a new position with the State of California. As a full time health officer, Dr. Bates regularly attended our Board meetings and kept the local physician community abreast of developing public health trends and concerns. During his tenure, Dr. Bates made many contributions in Yolo County, and we wish to commend him for his service.

The Yolo County Medical Society Board of Directors represents approximately 200 physicians in Yolo County. The Board believes strongly that the public health officer holds a very important position in this county because it is responsible for protecting the public health and fostering programs and services that address the health, safety and preventative need of our citizens. As required by law, the public health officer must be a physician, and he or she must have a direct, unencumbered line of communication to the County's Board of Supervisors on all issues concerning public health. A physician who is highly motivated and experienced must fill this position.

Most citizens are unaware of the role and responsibilities of a public health officer. The public officer is often the first to learn of and take action to protect against the spread of disease, to implement prevention programs and enhance communication and information exchange between physicians, schools, community clinics, health providers and the community at large. Through their experience and energies, the public health officer has access to funding sources from local, state, federal and private entities that can be used to augment county funding. These sources of additional program funding can be used to address the most serious of our community's problems such as drug and alcohol abuse, domestic violence, teen pregnancy, maternal and child health, environmental issues and health education.

We are hopeful that our Yolo County Administration and Board of Supervisors understand the significance of this position and look upon this opportunity to select an individual who is committed to our community's health.

THOMAS J. FERGUSON, M.D., Ph.D.
President
Yolo County Medical Society

Business as usual?

As the Money Store was bought by a major bank and will apparently "continue business as usual," West Sacramentans can breathe a little easier on that score. Although it is still legal, the Money Store's biggest problem was self-inflicted: if they loan you money in December for five years, they show all five years' interest as income for that first month/year. . . some kind of "advance booking of profits." While this makes profits look more impressive for the record, here's the problem: the profits/interest aren't fully earned until the five years are up!

Money Store has to suddenly show a loss for all of that interest income they claimed prematurely!

Until the law is changed requiring same, the Money Store-type lending agencies should prorate their interest/profits to no later than the end of their calendar/fiscal year, but preferably on a monthly or quarterly basis. This would prevent such businesses looking better on paper than they really are.

The other major local financial puzzle remains what was first known as Lighthouse Marina. From what started over 10 years ago, the "Marina" was dropped from the title and still no "houses." Does anyone, including the City Council, yet see the "Light?" After all of these years, suddenly Lighthouse is in a big hurry to widen 5th Street and have things ready as if their to-begated community was complete! But are they really just completing the infrastructure at taxpayers' expense and planning to sell bare land with minimal investment on their part?

Not wanting to delay the Lighthouse project any further for fear of lawsuit, City Council gave approval to original 5th St. widening plan, including removal of all but three old oak trees. Suddenly time was of the essence and we could afford neither the delay nor the maintenance of the old oak trees, like on the otherwise-free six bus shelters from the federal transportation agency, 'cause we can't afford to maintain them. (Another reason why we should have monthly, quarterly, and annual budget reports at city council meetings - so we would better know where our money goes!)

The fear of lawsuit factor should work both ways: City should have required performance bonds to assure we had something long ago resembling what our leaders were originally sold. Or would that have scared them away?

On the more positive side, we can say that our new Money Store building is not "top heavy" and it should continue to "draw a lotta interest!"

WILLIAM A. LOWELL
West Sacramento

Marna: read our lips

Capitol Week on Channel 6 showed two opposing politicians arguing about how Prop. 218 (right to vote on taxes or assessments) was going to hamper the great need for infrastructure replacements that are so badly needed in California. They argued whether a consumer tax would work or a sales tax hike would better serve the purpose.

They do not get it. No new taxes. No more, no way. Instigating an argument which violates the intent of the law does not make them ethical, nor does it make what they are doing right or legal. Because you vote on something does not mean they will enforce it or comply with it.

Woodland voters are going to be asked to vote on a sales tax, because they don't elect better officials. Sacramento is going to ask for a sales tax also or go around the issue some other way.

Because money and power always manipulate the press and politics so you do not read articles or see TV programs on what is wrong with the present elected officials.

Not creating political reform which would allow newcomers to tell what could be improved or changed, protects the existing politicians' reputation. What you don't know hurts you. An honest person makes sure things are kept simple and above board. An honest politician would make sure he protected the people that elected him/her. Now they get in office an keep everything behind closed doors and mumbled in legal documents which take away your rights or use our tax dollars.

One of the reasons that they want a consumer tax and/or a sales tax is because of government owning property which impacts our funds but they do not pay taxes on their use of the property.

Government owned housing projects have extraordinary amounts of police and fire/emergency calls. The clinics are overrun with needs due to these projects. The neighboring houses are supposed to bear the burden on all the costs through their property taxes. The voters never said this was okay. The politicians put this into practice.

Affordable housing programs could help local property owners, if it put people into homes with buy-down grants. It would move real estate and keep the neighborhoods from running down. As owners take better care of houses than renters do, according to statisitics. And why should our city be using our tax dollars to compete with our real estate market. The same people who tell you there is no money to fix the streets, use that money in a way that voters never intended. Why should government be abouve regulations which we have to follow? They skip over real estate procedures, unless someone gripes. They forgive fees, but not for the average law-abiding citizen. They do not have to pay back to the system for using our money for other than the "public good".

After spending mega dollars on the Light House Marina Project and taking back our land, I figure the waterfront property should be used for the public good. How nice it would be to have a multi-level city hall and community center which over looked the water and had built-in foot-traffic to encourage shops, etc., to locate nearby. Waterfront property draws people to it. Just because nothing has been built to date, does not mean that future skyscrapers will not be there.

If you want to show a great change, let's start fixing up our gateway properties. This century would be a good time to start, rather than wait for a millinium. There is the short-term planning which has been lacking in our city. Big government, big projects, big bucks, and slow progress. There is a middle ground. Small improvements, evern low-cost temporary projects which show interest and care, so you see some of those tax dollars today. No more corporat e welfare!

CHP honors local man for diving into river, saving driver

By Steve Marschke

The Yolo County branch of the California Highway Patrol honored a West Sacramento man Friday for what they called "an extraordinary act of valor" in his rescue of a 70-year old resident who drove his car into the Sacramento River.

David Sestak, a 37-year old new resident of West Sacramento and an employee of Lighthouse Development in the city, received the certificate of commendation from Chief Haworth of the CHP's Valley Division Office in a Woodland ceremony last week.

Haworth emphasized the danger of entering the cold, fast-moving, murky and debris-laden river as Sestak did on Jan. 14 and said that "had he not acted quickly, it is quite possible that the other party would have died."

Sestak was driving on the river road north of Sacramento at 1:40 p.m. on that day when he saw a car driven by the 70-year old victim swerve off the road and careen into the river. Sestak stopped the car, went into the river and got to the victim about 50 feet away, who had exited the car, and held onto to the uncooperative man until he located a floating branch for him to grab for flotation.

The pair drifted down the river 100 to 200 yards, where Sestak "convinced the person to continue holding onto the tree, while he went to shore, retrieved a branch and pulled the victim to shore," said Sestak.

Sestak said he was honored to receive the award from the CHP, which he regarded as having "some of the finest members" of his new community.

"I'm sure I'll be telling my story about this 15 minutes of fame forever," he commented. And in a message to the man he saved, who was not present at the ceremony, Sestak added, "Slow down, drive savely and for goodness sakes, stay on the road."

CHIEF HAWORTH of the CHP reads a proclamation honoring DAVID SESTAK

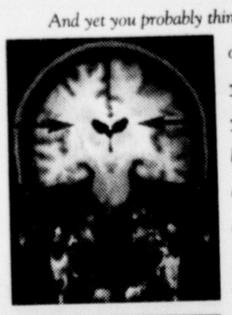
Depression.
A flaw in chemistry,
not character.

People with cancer aren't expected to heal themselves. People with diabetes can't will themselves out of needing insulin.

And yet you probably think, like millions of people do, that you or someone you know should be able to overcome another debilitating disease, depression, through sheer will and fortitude.



What causes depression? According to recent medical research, depression is caused when an insufficient level of the neurotransmitter serotonin is passed through the synapses in the frontal lobe of the brain. A condition, once triggered, that can last for months, years, or even lifetimes.

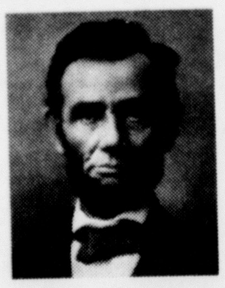
Above: Brain scan of a "normal" brain. Below: Brain abnormality found in many severe cases of depression or manic-depression.

For untold decades, it has been thought that depression is the symptom of a weak character or underlying laziness and complacency. In reality, nothing could be further from the truth.

We've even found that depression has a genetic link. That like other family traits, it can be passed down from generation to generation.

An inherited disease? You probably think that sounds pretty hopeless. But when it comes to depression, it's actually good news. Because it reclassifies depression as a physical disease instead of a mental illness, the difference between it being curable instead of just treatable.

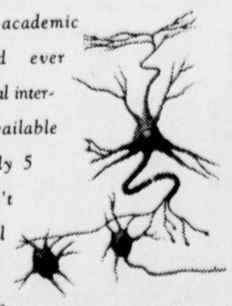
While these recent discoveries should help relieve some of the stigma associated with depression, a look at history also helps. It's a well documented fact that Abraham Lincoln was depressed for most of his adolescent and adult life. Sir Winston Churchill referred to his depression as "the black dog," starting after the failure of the 1915 Dardanelles Expedition and shadowing him his entire life.



The date was January 1, 1863. It was the day of one of Abraham Lincoln's most eloquent speeches, the Emancipation Proclamation. He had succeeded in freeing millions of repressed, impoverished slaves. For anyone, the accomplishment of a lifetime. Still, Lincoln battled depression, the cloud that would follow him always.

You see, depression doesn't discriminate. Anyone can get it. And today you can find books written about admitted sufferers Mike Wallace, Joan Rivers, Dick Cavett and Kitty Dukakis just to name a few.

The reality is, there's never been a better time to be depressed. With new therapies, drug company and academic research, and ever increasing medical interest, help is available today that only 5 years ago didn't exist. Please call 1-800-717-3111 if you or someone you know needs help.



Here they are. The keys to happiness. A few of the thousands of synapses that have the power to make any given day one of the most joyous in your life or the most despairing. The difference between looking forward to a day filled with hope instead of dread. All based on whether these channels for neurotransmission can properly send certain signals to the brain.

With this new understanding of depression, we hope you'll see that the only shame would be not calling.

DRAMA: 'Few Good Men'

SOME OF INSTRUCTOR ROY ENGORON'S THESPIANS rehearse for a scene in the high school's new play looking forward to the first performance this Thursday night and we hope everyone will make plans to attend."

On Friday, March 20, the Arts Boosters Club (ABC) will hold their Gala at the Matthews Performing Arts Center, featuring a post-performance session with all the members of the cast.

The play does contain some explicit language, and parents may not find the performance suitable for young children.

The News-Ledger will do a review of "A Few Good Men" which will appear in next week's edition and anyone who would like more information on the play can contact Rishi Sharma, Publicity Coordinator at 375-7800.

Farmer, Zolnikov file in race for empty WUSD trustee seat

The filing period for candidates closed Friday, and two candidates declared for the June 2 primary election in which a vacant seat on the Washington Unified School Board.

Paul Zolnikov, a realtor, and David Farmer, a police lieutenant, both filed papers for the post.

Both Zolnikov and Farmer had also been among the candidates when the school board itself filled the vacancy late last year with the appointment of Juan Barcenas. A citizens' petition invalidated that appointment and sent the vacancy to the June ballot.

Barcenas, a police officer formerly assigned to the schools, did not file papers to run for the seat.

The seat, vacated by the resignation of Nancy Thompson-Candee, has a term which expires at the end of this year, so the winner of the June race will have to successfully run again in November in order to stay on the board past that point.

Police log

Feb. 26, 3 p.m.

An Orchard Way apartment employee said he had put a money bag with $300 on the counter and after it was handled by a 36-year old and a 15-year old male, it was returned with $100 missing. Both suspects denied the theft and accused each other. The employee placed them both under citizens arrest. They were taken to the police department and given a notice to appear in court.

March 5, 12:53 p.m.

Officers responded after being told a 37-year old man had returned to the Anna St. house where his estranged wife lived. He had fled through the garage when officers arrived, but was arrested. He had threatened to kill the woman with a large knife and had a home made fire bomb near the front door. He was also accused of stalking and previous threats.

March 6, 9:20 p.m.

An officer stopped a vehicle on West Capitol driven by a 35-year old Sacramento man. A patch search revealed eight individually wrapped portions of methamphetamines. The man was jailed.

March 7, 11:35 p.m.

An officer contacted a 41-year old transient man on West Capitol Ave. A consent search turned up a small amount of methamphetamines in his wallet. The man was booked.

March 9, 12:17 p.m.

A 30-year old transient female agreed to perform a sexual act with an undercover officer in exchange for money. She was arrested.

March 9, 10:45 p.m.

A 22-year old 19th St. man was arrested on two probable cause declarations. The first was that he went to his ex-girlfriend's house on Feb. 27 in violation of a court order and ripped her phone from the wall to prevent her calling the police. The second was that he went again on March 9, burglarizing her vehicle.

March 10, 7:50 a.m.

An officer saw a 28-year old woman walking West Capitol Ave. (a known prostitution "stroll") in violation of her probation terms for prostitution, which ordered her to keep off that street and to carry ID at all times. She told the officer she was on her way to Citrus Heights to see her child. She had no ID and was booked.

FIFTH ST.

preferred the original street widening plan, which left room for on-street parking and landscaping to "buffer" nearby homes from traffic.

But the ruling left a number of local activists disappointed. They had hoped to save all of the nine oaks from development, and force the city to come up with a more tree-friendly plan for expanding Fifth Street.

Two of the trees which will be destroyed are large enough examples of native species that they are protected from development except when absolutely necessary, according to a city ordinance.

Although the widening project is a key element of the city's deal with Lighthouse Development, since it is intended to produce a new entrance for the project's planned gated community, the four-lane road is also believed by many to be a positive feature for the "Broderick" neighborhood's future economic hopes.

Quoted in the Sacramento Bee, the Money Store's Turtletaub said, "First Union wants us just as were are. The only difference for us is that we have deeper pockets than we did yesterday."

The sale raised Money Store's Standard & Poor's bond rating, which is a commonly accepted barometer of a company's financial health, from its current BBB-status to A-plus. The upgraded bond rating will allow Money Store to be more competitive among its peers.

"The Money Store called me directly prior to the sale," said West Sacramento Mayor Wes Beers, "and told me they were very pleased with the way the deal had been finalized. They wanted to assure me and other West Sacramento officials that the sale wouldn't adversely affect West Sacramento in any way. It turns out that it was almost an invisible sale in the sense that almost nothing will really change."

"The only potential downside to the sale from West Sacramento's point of view," explained City Councilman Greg Potnick, "was that First Union could have decided to begin divesting some of Money Store's assets, but we have been assured that won't happen. So far, both First Union and Money Store have done exactly what they said they would do and I fully expect the new headquarter's building to continue filling up with employees and open on schedule, which should be sometime in May."

Joe Goeden, West Sacramento's city manager said, "Money Store's CEO is going to stay in that position and their $60 million to $70 million dollar investment isn't going any place, so I see the sale to First Union as something which strengthens both of those organizations. From all the information I have, West Sacramento loses absolutely nothing in this deal."

The Money Store, which was founded in 1967, makes loans in the home equity, student loan and small business markets to "sub-prime" or high-risk borrowers. It is best known to the public through its years of television ads featuring baseball Hall of Fame pitcher Jim Palmer.

> —Ralph Waldo Emerson

A good Guernsey cow will produce more than one thousand gallons of whole milk and cream a year. This is enough to feed a family of two adults and three children, with ample skimmed milk left over to feed a veal calf, a pig, and a flock of chickens. An addtional bonus is more than fourteen tons of manure for the spreading.

Swim registration

The West Sacramento Dolphins Swim Team will be holding sigh-ups for children who wish to be new members for the upcomin 1998 season. Sign-ups will be held this Saturday, March 14 at Whitey's Jolly Kone, 1300 Jefferson Blvd, West Sacramento from 10 a.m to 3 p.m.. The cost for the season is $50 for the first swimmer, $40 for the second swimmer and $20 for the third and each additional swimmer theresafter (must be from the same family). To register children you must have a copy of their birth certificate. The Dolphins regrettably have to announce that all spots on the 9-10 girls roster have been filled and they will no longer be accepting new applications. The Dolphins comprise boys and girls between the age of 4 and 18. For further information please call Pamela Beatty (president) at 373-1620 or Patti Lamb (registra) at 371-4245.

Jobs Daughter news

On February 26, West Sacramento Jobs Daughters Bethel #338, gave Mrs. Margaret Miller, Past Deputy Grand Guardian, a Membership of Honor for all of her past years of loyal service and support to all Jobs Daughters.

This Thursday March 12 the Bethel will be honoring all past Honor Queens and Majority Members of any Bethel. The meeting will be held at Scepter Masonic Lodge on Jefferson Boulevard at 7:30 p.m.. Refreshments will follow the meeting. For any additional information please call Susan Denton Blacklaw at 371-6053.

Senior League tryouts

West Sacramento Little League will conduct senior league tryouts (ages 13-15) on one day only, Saturday March 14, at 9:00 a.m. at the River City High School varsity baseball diamond. Any interested players who have not yet registered should contact either player agent John Cabral (372-6637) or senior league vice president Carla Marquez (372-6906) and do so immediately. Registration will also be accepted at the tryout session. The senior league registration fee is $60. Teams will be formed shortly after the tryout session with senior league games beginning on April 18.

Bears signups

The West Sac Bears youth football and cheerleaders will be holding sign-ups on Saturday, March 14, from 12:00 p.m. until 2:00 p.m. in the quad area at Golden State Middle School, 1100 Carrie Street, West Sacramento.

The 1998 registration fee is #100 per child, plus a refundable $25 work deposit. We are offering $25 off the registration fee for early registration (must be paid in full by June 1, 1998). After June 1, we will be offering a sibling discount, which is also $25 of the registration fee for the second child (and so on) from the same family (immediate family only).

We will require all new players and cheerleaders to bring an original certified copy of their birth certificate prior to the first day of practice, which begins on July 27. If you have any questions, please call Jamie Copelin at 371-6688, Jerry Harris at 372-8681 or Leslie Pruitt at 373-9466.

Cheer coaches wanted

The West Sac Bears and Cheerleaders are currently accepting applications for two head cheer coach positions and several assistant coaching positions. If you are interested and would like more information, please contact Leslie Pruitt, Cheer Coordinator, at 373-9466.

Hepatitis shots

California law, after July 1, 1999, requires schoolchildren entering 7th grade to have three Hepatitis B shots. A second MMR shot and a Td booster may also be requred, and the school will ask to see your child's proof of immunization. Because the Hepatitis shots must be spaced several months apart, it is important to plan early. For information, contact your physician, school nurse, or the county health department.

High School drama

River City High School's drama department presents "A Few Good Men," at 8 p.m. on March 12, 13, 14, 19, 20 (arts booster gala night; all seats $7) and 21. Tickets for all performances except March 20 will be $6 general admission and $5 students/senior citizens. Performances will be at Yolo High School, West Sacramento.

CPR Saturday

The Yolo County Red Cross annual CPR Saturday this year will aim to bring CPR skills to Spanish-speakers, with six classes held in Spanish and two in English. Classes begin at 8 a.m. at Yuba College's Woodland campus, 41605 E. Gibson Rd., and are free. For information, call 662-4669. The Red Cross is also offering "CPR for babysitters," with classes for youths 11-15 years old held at the County Fair Mall in Woodland on March 28, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Call 662-4669.

Hazardous Waste

County residents may bring household hazardous waste such as poisons, solvents, cleaners, gasoline, paints, used motor oil and aerosol sprays to the county landfill near Davis from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on March 21. 125 pounds or 15 gallons maximum per person; businesses should call 1-800-207-8222 for information on separate programs. For further information, call 372-0850.

Please submit your Local Scene items by the prior Friday.

In local government

The West Sacramento City Council will meet tonight (March 11) in public session at 7 p.m. at 2101 Stone Blvd.

Agenda items will include:

Second reading and adoption of an ordinance amending the municipal code pertaining to the transient occupancy tax (collected from motels and hotels).

Consideration of Res. 98-29 revising the city's records retention schedule.

Consideration of additional redevelopment funds for the purchase of furniture and equipment for the previously approved Community Services Manager in the Parks and Community Services Dept.

Consideration of a proclamation declaring March 15-21 as National Agriculture Week in West Sacramento.

Consideration of a city council appeal of prohibition of angle parking in the Stone Blvd. cul de sacs. A resident(s) of that street requested that angle parking be prohibited on the street, the city traffic committee concurred, and the decision is being appealed to the city council.

Consideration of options for provision of electric power in West Sacramento, as a result of electric power deregulation.
